W. P. WINDHAM, PROMINENT ELBIAN, DIED MONDAY AFTERNOON

Mr. William P. Windham, life-long resident of Elba and this section of Coffee, died at his home on the Troy highway Monday afternoon, following a long illness. He had been suffering from a heart ailment for several months, but was only confined to his bed for the past two or three weeks. Countless friends were grieved at news of his passing.

Mr. Windham was one of the pioneer lumbermen of the county and for a long period successfully operated mills here and at other places in the county. He was also interested in other business enterprises and in recent years had operated a small mercantile business. He was a member of one of Coffee's oldest families—one long identified with the public life of the county.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Daisy Beasley Windham, one daughter, Mrs. Jean Johnson, three sons: Paul, Jack and Billy Windham. One brother, Dave Windham, and many other relatives.

Mr. Windham was a member of the Baptist Church and the Masonic fraternity. Funeral services held from Hayes Funeral Home were in charge of the Masons, members acting as pallbearers. Interment was in Evergreen cemetery Tuesday afternoon. The impressive Masonic ceremony was used at the grave. Hayes had charge of funeral arrangements.

REVIVAL AT ELBA METHODIST CHURCH DRAWS MUCH INTEREST

The series of revival services which have been in progress at the Elba Methodist church since February 2, are growing in interest and the attendance is unusually fine.

The evangelist, Rev. J. P. Trueblood, who has been doing the preaching since last Thursday, holds his listeners in rapt attention as he quotes dozens of passages from the scriptures during his discourses. He is an able Bible student and bases his messages wholly on the gospel truths. His manner in presenting these truths is different from most preachers, and interest continues to grow. The meeting will continue through next Sunday, with services at the morning and evening hours.

Rev. Cecil Bradley, of New Brockton is doing some fine work with the young people, who meet for special worship each evening. The music by the youth choir is another interesting part of the revival campaign.

When certified or disease-free seed cannot be obtained, it is advisable to treat available seed before planting them. Seed treatments are inexpensive and they often pay good dividends in increased yields or improved quality.
